Report: Description in (min 250 to max 800 words)***

The "Street Stories: Echoes of the Common Man" Nukkad Natak was held on October 13 (Friday) at 10 am to 11 am. The event featured a series of street theatre performances designed to address and reflect on societal issues such as poverty, injustice, and inequality. Performed in public spaces, the natak aimed to engage passersby in meaningful conversations and provoke thought about common social concerns.

The performances were marked by vibrant costumes, expressive acting, and interactive dialogues, which captured the essence of the common man's experiences. The actors skillfully used humor, drama, and satire to highlight serious issues in a relatable manner. Each act was followed by a discussion session, where audience members were encouraged to share their thoughts and experiences related to the themes presented.

The event was well-received by the community, with many expressing appreciation for the way it brought crucial social issues to the forefront. By transforming public spaces into stages for social commentary, "Street Stories" successfully bridged the gap between performance and real-world issues, fostering a deeper understanding and dialogue among its audience. The "Natak" not only entertained but also educated, leaving a lasting impact on all who attended.
