The Eco Club of Tecnia Institute of Advanced Studies (TIAS) successfully organized a vibrant and eco-friendly celebration titled "Khelo Holi Naturally" on 13th March in the Multipurpose Hall (MPH) of the TIAS campus. The event aimed to promote environmental consciousness by celebrating Holi with natural colors and flower petals, steering away from harmful synthetic alternatives.

The event commenced with enthusiastic participation from students, faculty members, and staff. Students presented a series of cultural performances, including dances, songs, and skits, all highlighting the spirit of Holi and the importance of sustainable celebrations. Their performances were met with loud applause and set a joyful tone for the day.

After the performances, everyone joined in the festive spirit by playing Holi using natural colors and flower petals, maintaining the event's eco-friendly theme. The celebration was filled with joy, unity, and vibrant colors, all while ensuring that the environment was respected and no harmful substances were used.

The initiative received appreciation from both students and staff for its thoughtful approach to celebrating one of India's most colorful festivals in a responsible manner. The event concluded with refreshments and group photos, capturing the beautiful moments shared by the TIAS community.
