Report: Description in (min 250 to max 800 words)*

The Department of Management Sciences at Tecnia Institute of Advanced Studies organized a mock interview session for BBA. The initiative aimed to prepare students for real-world job interviews and to enhance their interview skills, confidence, and overall preparedness for career opportunities. This report outlines the key aspects of the event, including its objectives, structure, participant feedback, and outcomes.

The mock interview involved [insert number] students from various specializations within the management program. A panel of faculty members, industry experts, and alumni was invited to evaluate the students' performance.

Each student participated in a 20-minute one-on-one interview session with a panelist.

The interviewer asked a variety of questions, including behavioral questions, situational scenarios, and questions related to the students' respective fields of study.

The inclusion of faculty enriched the experience, as students received varied perspectives on the interview process. Students engaged actively with the panelists, creating a dynamic and informative atmosphere.

The feedback offered was constructive and actionable, allowing students to understand their strengths and weaknesses.

Feedback Sessions: After each interview, the panelists provided immediate feedback on the students' performance, focusing on areas such as body language, clarity of thought, and response strategies.

Participant Feedback

Feedback was collected from participants through a short survey post-event. Key insights included:

- Increased Confidence: Many students reported feeling more confident about attending actual interviews after participating in the mock interview.
- Valuable Insights: Participants appreciated the detailed feedback on specific areas, particularly in body language and answering techniques.
- Need for More Practice: Some students expressed a desire for additional practice sessions to further hone their skills.

Interview Outcomes

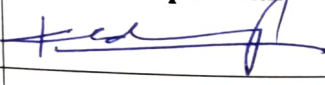

The mock interview successfully met its objectives and provided the following outcomes:

1. Enhanced Skills: Students improved on key competencies such as communication, critical thinking, and self-presentation.
2. Preparedness for Job Market: Participants felt more equipped to approach upcoming job interviews following the experience.
3. Networking Opportunities: The event facilitated networking between students and industry professionals, aiding in potential future employment opportunities.

The mock interview organized by the Department of Management Sciences at Tecnia Institute of Advanced Studies proved to be a valuable learning experience for students. It not only enhanced their interview skills but also built their confidence and provided them with insights into the expectations of potential employers. Continued efforts in organizing such practical sessions are recommended to further support students in their career preparation journey.

Recommendations

1. Regular Mock Interview Sessions: Schedule more frequent mock interviews to allow students to practice and improve continuously.
2. Workshops on Specific Skills: Consider conducting workshops focusing on specific skills such as resume writing, communication, and negotiation techniques.
3. Alumni Involvement: Involving more alumni in interview panels can provide students with relevant industry insights.

	and real-world perspectives.
